

GENDER

Journal for Gender, Culture and Society

Old new inequalities? Dissolutions and new configurations in the work and family sphere

Annette von Alemann, Sandra Beaufays, Beate Kortendie	Introduction	10
Iris Mendel	Parenting under neoliberalism. An autoethnographic sketch of the care crisis	24
Katrin Menke	Parents considered as economic subjects? Socially selective consequences of an economized family policy for the parental choice of mothers and fathers	42
Benjamin Neumann	De-/naturalization of parenthood and gender in the context of parental leave	59
Diana Baumgarten, Nina Wehner, Andrea Maihofer, Karin Schwiter	"As a father, I want to work part time". The linkages between the career and family plans of 30-year-old men in the German-speaking part of Switzerland	76
Anna Buschmeyer, Diana Lengersdorf	Separate spheres and reconfigurations of masculinity. Theoretical considerations and empirical findings	92
Karin Flaake	Egalitarian gender relationships in families and working mothers – the potentials of shared parenthood. Experiences of mothers, fathers, daughters and sons	108
Gesine Tuitjer	"Here, mothers don't have to work" – local gender arrangements between change and continuity	124

Choni Flöther, Sarah Oberkrome	Highly qualified and working in the kitchen? The career situation of male and female PhD holders within and outside of academia	143
Stefanie Leinfellner, Christiane Bomert	Parenthood and the scientific working context within neoliberal transformations: Old or new dilemmas as regards the compatibility of reproduction and profession?	163